Alex Lewis LLB, Solicitor (non-practising), formerly Senior Rights of Way Officer, Hampshire C. C.

The aim of this course is to explore the vexed question of how to be both compliant and efficient in the consolidation process and to address the common problems associated with it. This is also an opportunity to review recent case law in respect of rights of way, with specific attention to definitive map matters.

The course will be of interest to local authority legal and rights of way officers with definitive map responsibilities and will be relevant to barristers and solicitors advising clients and to bodies advising landowners and users.
